Charlie Brown's out on the streets

Amid the chaos and confusion of construction for Rice Park and 4th Street tunnel, the area has one overpowering and stabilizing presence — Charlie Brown!

The Rice Park area will be home to no fewer than eight Charlie Brown statues as part of the Charlie Brown Around Town (CBAT) tribute to Charles Schulz.

By late June, virtually all of the statues will be installed. Just as the Snoopys were last year, the Charlie Browns are being installed by Roger Borchard of Kraus-Anderson Construction Company. On the day City Update photographed Roger, he was being helped by Abby Chiat, a summer intern for the CBAT program. Another Kraus-Anderson employee, Paul Ophus, is also delivering and setting up the polyurethane statues.

In addition to the eight in the Rice Park vicinity, Downtown Saint Paul will have another 43 statues, from the Capitol grounds and Regions Hospital on the north to Harriet Island and Lambert's Landing on the south. Forty-eight more are elsewhere around town.

A list of all 102 statues with maps of their locations was published

On a warm Monday, June 11th, Roger Borchard of Kraus-Anderson unloads "It's A Love Connection, Charlie Brown" in Rice Park for delivery two blocks away at Lawson Commons.

Wednesday, June 13th, in the Pioneer Press. Colorful brochures with the list, maps, and pictures of some of the statues will be available at the end of June. Pick up your copy at the Citizen Service Office, 170 City Hall, or at the Doghouse Information Booth on Ecolab Plaza, Wabasha Street at 5th. Information is also available at the iloveaintpaul.com and www.ci.stpaul.mn.us web sites.

CBAT merchandise — T-shirts, postcards, and posters — will be on sale at the Taste of Minnesota, which begins Saturday, June 30th.

Volunteers needed at Doghouse

If you'd like to help out with the CBAT effort, City employees are encouraged to help on Wednesdays at the Doghouse Information Booth. You'll give out information and maps to visitors. To volunteer, call Sandra Wicklund at 651-266-8502.

Did you think that a second summer's tribute to Charles Schulz might not be as popular as the first? People magazine even did a story about last year's event. Well, this year's Grand Old Days Charlie Brown exhibit, was on the Today show. Good grief, that's good!

The next step

The 10,000 Steps program is winding down. If you participated, you should have your log almost complete. Take a moment to look at your log, note the progress, and then give yourself a pat on the back for taking the first step to better health!

Now comes the next step: the prize drawing! Send your completed log to the HealthPartners address on the back of your log by July 2, and you'll be eligible for one $100, or forty $25 Joe's Sporting Goods gift certificates, and one $75 gift certificate for the Mall of America. In addition, you will receive an "official" 10,000 Steps water bottle. The water bottle will contain a 10,000 Steps evaluation form which Cityfit hopes you'll complete and send to the return address.

Just because the 10,000 Steps program is ending, it does not mean you should quit walking. After you mail your log to HealthPartners, a new one will be sent to you. The next step to fitness is to continue to use your pedometer and challenge yourself to walk faster, farther, and longer. By joining 10,000 Steps, you took the first step to better health, now take the next step and aim for making every day a 10,000 Steps day.
